Background

Executive Electronics of Southwest Florida, Inc., a privately-held, family-owned company, is the leader in the design, installation, and servicing of professional security systems in Southwest Florida. For over 25 years, the company has specialized in monitored security and surveillance, home theater, surround sound, whole-house audio/video distribution, and fire detection systems. With over 3,000 customers, Executive Electronics is the most trusted name in the categories in which we compete.

Our People

Since 1983, our team has been committed to one thing – customer service. Our management, customer service, sales, installation and service teams have over 100 years of combined experience in the low voltage industry, and are trained on a number of the industry's premier products for both the residential and commercial markets. They are certified by the state of Florida as both burglar and fire systems agents, and the company is a licensed and insured EF contractor in Florida. In addition, Executive Electronics is one of the only alarm companies in the local market that offers 24x7 on-call technicians for emergency service, meaning we're there when you need us – unlike the national competitors.

Products and Services

Why Install a monitored Security/Fire System?

- Homes without security systems are 3 times more likely to be burglarized than those with security systems.
- The average loss in a home intrusion is over $1,800.
- There are over 2 million burglaries in the U.S. every year, with a burglary being committed every 14.4 seconds.
- The average consumer saves 10-20% on their home owners insurance when they install a monitored home security/fire alarm system.

Central Monitoring Station

Executive Electronics offers 24x7x365 security and fire monitoring services through a state-of-the-art, UL-certified central monitoring station in Florida. The primary facility is backed up by 3 other central stations across various parts of the U.S. (Northeast, Midwest, and West Coast), in addition to having many other redundancy measures built in, meaning we're there when you need us.

Industry Associations and Affiliations

Executive Electronics is a member of the American Society for Industrial Security, Alarm Association of Florida, Collier Building Industry Association, and the Bonita Springs Chamber of Commerce. In addition to being members, the latter two are also customers of Executive Electronics.

Testimonials

"Executive Electronics really stepped up to the plate for our home automation system. After having the initial system installed during construction, we were unable to get any functional use from it. The original installers were unable to program the system, and multiple other local installation companies were not willing to work on 'someone else's system.' Executive Electronics was not only happy to get everything in order and operational, they were also efficient with the use of time in our house. It has been a pleasure having a team that cares to make sure the final product is what was promised. I wish we had started off with them. It would have saved me both time and money."

"Executive Electronics did a great job with enhancing our camera system. They listened well, and were attentive to our needs. They were also very responsive and completed the project quickly and professionally. I would highly recommend them to anyone considering a surveillance system."
